STUBBS INQUIRY ACTS THROUG

JUDGE FIGURE AT COLLEGE FUND INQUIRY

Statement By Mr. Justice R. M. Dennistoun at Winnipeg Session Creates Sensation

To-morrow He Is To Go On Stand

Counsel Criticizes; Judge Says He Was Not Overdrawn With Firm

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Jan. 12.—A sensation was caused at the sitting of the commission investigating University of Manitoba trust fund shortages here to-day when Mr. Justice R. M. Dennistoun, of the Manitoba Court of Appeal, after listening to a sweeping denunciation of his actions while a partner in the firm of Machray, Sharpe and Dennistoun by J. T. Thorson, K.C., commission counsel, interrupted to say Mr. Thorson had deliberately refused to put in an exhibit that would clear him.

"Mr. Thorson told me the statement I wished to put in was too much in my favor and that he would not do so," said Mr. Justice Dennistoun. "It is a statement made by R. H. Shanks (accountant for the investment firm showing my financial position with the firm before I left for overseas. It shows I could not have been overdrawn."

Mr. Justice Turgeon, chairman of the commission, said this was a most serious statement and Mr. Thorson agreed and said the facts were not as stated by Mr. Justice Dennistoun. He added the judge had an opportunity to again go into the witness box and after some breezy cross-fire it was agreed the former partner in the firm should go on the stand to-morrow.

LAND ACCOUNT
The climax came after Mr. Thorson had said both Fred J. Sharpe and Mr. Justice Dennistoun were very much to blame for the state of things in the Machray, Sharpe and Dennistoun office. It had been agreed, he stated, that the three partners start a land (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

C. E. Edgett Declares Mayor L. D. Taylor Told Him He Wanted Him Discharged

Mayor's Plan to Cut Salary Endorsed at Meeting of Ratepayers

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Jan. 12.—Definitely contradictory statements are made by Mayor Louis D. Taylor and Chief of Police C. E. Edgett on what occurred last week at a conference between the two.

The chief insists the mayor declared his intention to have him dismissed from the force. The mayor reiterates his former statement that he did not say so.

Support of the mayor's plan to reduce the chief's salary from $6,750 to $4,150 was expressed by a majority vote of the Federated Ratepayers' Association at a meeting yesterday evening. The resolution was proposed by H. G. A. McLennan and resulted in a heated debate.

"The mayor told me I was to be fired," said the chief. "He gave as his reasons that the city had been improperly policed, and that he, as chief magistrate, could not stand for it. Another thing I would like to make clear is that he never mentioned, at that conference, anything about salary cuts. Nothing was said about that."

The entire question will probably be aired at the next police commission meeting, which has been postponed from this afternoon until next Thursday, following the city council's decision to defer appointment of a successor to Peter L. Scott, who has been disqualified as commissioner.

JUDGE MARTIN ARRIVES HERE

Former Premier of Saskatchewan Comes From Regina to Spend Holiday in City

Served as Federal Member, Provincial Premier and Judge Before 45 Years Old

Mr. Justice William M. Martin, of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal, arrived in the city this afternoon from Regina to enjoy relaxation here. Before he was transferred to the bench he was one of the outstanding politicians of the Canadian west, being Premier of Saskatchewan from 1917 to 1922.

He has had the distinction of serving as a member of the House of Commons, as Premier of Saskatchewan and as judge of the Court of Appeal before attaining his forty-fifth birthday.

A native of Norwich, Ont., he graduated from Toronto University with honors, and took up a law career, going to Regina in 1903. Three years later he was offered the nomination for the riding of western Assiniboia, but declined the offer.

In 1908 he was offered the Liberal nomination for Regina, and successfully contested the seat in the federal election of that year. In the election of 1911 he was again returned. He resigned his federal seat in 1917 to accept the nomination of Saskatchewan on the resignation of the Hon. Walter Scott, who subsequently came to Victoria for his health.

ABLE LEADER
As Premier of Saskatchewan, Mr. Martin was a most effective leader. Following his resignation on April 3, 1922, he was succeeded to the premiership by Hon. C. A. Dunning, formerly Provincial Treasurer and later Federal Finance Minister.

Soon after his retirement from the political arena, Mr. Martin was appointed a judge of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal, and ex-officio became a judge of the Court of the King's Bench of that province.

He paid a brief visit to Victoria in July, 1926. He is now at the Empress Hotel and expects to play a lot of golf.

NEW GAS MAINS ORDERED TO-DAY
B.C. Electric Buys Twenty Miles of Pipe For $100,000 Extension

Twenty miles of pipe, for use in extending the Victoria gas mains into Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt, have been ordered by British manufacturers by the British Columbia Electric Railway Company Limited. The contract was awarded this morning and the pipe is scheduled to arrive on March 1.

Four sizes are included in the order, the diameters ranging from four inches down to 1 1/2 inches. The pipe is of a special type devised for high pressure gas mains and will be laid with welded joints.

The order is expected to be sufficient to cover the extension programme to be completed this year. It demands for service warrant further work a supplementary order will be placed later in the year. The franchises given the company by the three municipalities allow two years for completion of the various programmes.

More than $100,000 is involved in the inter-municipal extension programme, which will require installation of special gas compressor machinery at the generating station and an extensive programme of new mains in the north-eastern part of Victoria city.

Cat Tax Proposal Offered at Oak Bay

Lady's Suggestion Well Received at Municipal Meeting; Strays Kill Singing Birds, Mrs. Young Claims.

Meeting with the whole-hearted approval of the public meeting at Oak Bay yesterday evening was the suggestion by Mrs. H. E. Young that a tax be placed on all cats in the municipality. Money would be brought into the coffers of the corporation in this way and a nuisance alleviated, the lady declared in a brief, effective talk on the subject.

"I am sure the owners of valuable Persians and prized pets would only be too willing to pay a tax—say fifty cents a year—for them. Then all other cats, whose owners could not be found, could be easily disposed of in some way," Mrs. Young said.

The audience showed agreement with her suggestion by cordial applause. Stray cats watch for the singing birds in Oak Bay and pounce on them whenever they get a chance. Mrs. Young said. She thought this a shame in more ways than one, as the birds help kill insect pests.

There should be some exceptions to the tax on cats, however, Mrs. Young said. "If they are pets of children whose parents cannot afford to pay, they should be exempt," she thought.

URGES MERGER OF RAILWAYS

Sir H. Holt Tells Royal Bank Shareholders C.N.R.-C.P.R. Co-operation Not Enough

Canadian Press
Montreal, Jan. 12.—Unification of the two Canadian transcontinental railways was advocated by Sir Herbert S. Holt in the course of his presidential address at the annual meeting of shareholders of the Royal Bank of Canada here to-day. Sir Herbert said co-operation as advocated by the Royal Commission on Transportation would not be drastic enough.

Analyzing other economic troubles in Canada, Sir Herbert said that if drastic steps were not taken to secure co-operation by the newspaper manufacturers and stop price cutting were not successful provincial governments would have to take steps to conserve Canada's natural resources and prevent the collapse of the industry.

Sir Herbert commented on duplication of government expenditures and said the country must consider whether it could afford to maintain nine separate provincial legislatures in addition to the federal administration.

On world affairs Sir Herbert stated it was essential to the maintenance of civilization that the coming General Economic Conference should be a success.

MAXIMUM ECONOMICS
Sir Herbert said it was obvious co-operation between the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific are recommended by the Duff commission on transportation would not prove drastic enough to cut down in adequate degree the annual deficits of the government road. It must be apparent to everyone the minimum of economy could be attained only under a union of interests which would remove the element of competition.

COSTS MORE IN CANADA
Dealing with government expenditures, Sir Herbert said there was a noteworthy duplication which led to mapped out a cost of administration. "We must seriously consider whether this country can afford to maintain as many as nine separate provincial governments, each with its own elaborate organization. In the United States, where it was recognized the cost of federal and state government was excessive, it amounted to $42 per head, whereas the corresponding figure for Canada was $53," commented Sir Herbert.

Preparations for a re-survey of the city's 1933 budget, submitted in tentative form in December, were in the making at the City Hall to-day, although it is fairly certain the tax rate will not be fixed until some time in the latter part of April or early in May.

There was promise of an exhaustive investigation of all departmental expenditures to determine where and how economies can be effected in a budget which received a drastic overhauling last year.

Council committees and department executives are due for a series of conferences within the next few weeks, out of which will come the new draft of estimates for the council's consideration.

Mr. A. Macdonald, the city comptroller, said this morning he had asked department heads to submit estimates shortly to be used in revising the tentative figures prepared for the council in the fall.

Paris, Jan. 12.—Socialists in the Chamber of Deputies to-day dealt what parliamentary circles believe may be the death blow to the Paul-Boncour cabinet when they decided to vote against fiscal measures sponsored by Finance Minister Cheron.

Former Premier Edouard Herriot, setting for the Radical Socialists, visited M. Paul-Boncour and warned against the peril of insisting on the Cheron programme.

The Finance Minister proposes to cover an estimated budget deficit of 10,541,000,000 francs by extensive economies and new taxes which would transform the deficit into an estimated surplus of 238,000,000 francs. The decision may not come before January 17, when the measure will be debated in the chamber.

"We wish to show the airplane superior to the dirigible for assuring postal service," said M. Couzinet.

Mr. Haynes said, "In having an efficient, permanent inside staff. In a small municipality, such as this, the officials are called upon to perform many duties. For instance, R. F. Blandy occupies the positions of clerk, treasurer, assessor returning officer, secretary of the police commission and secretary of the zoning board; James Richardson is engineer, water commissioner and purchasing agent, while John Syme has the duties of fire marshal added to his position of chief of police. The ministry announced it believed the outbreak had been caused by a shipment of infected cattle from the south.

M'GEER SCORES BENNETT'S VIEWS

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Jan. 12.—Premier Bennett thinks more of the welfare of bankers who live on interest collected from the people on the credit created by the people than he does of adequate reward for the labors of working men, according to G. G. McGeer, K.C.

Addressing a meeting of the Progressive Liberal Association here, Mr. McGeer scored the banking and credit systems and urged broad economic reforms.

Premier Bennett had said Canada could be saved only by the grace of God, said the speaker, but Mr. McGeer said human enterprise had always been equal to the tasks confronting it in the past and he decried waiting for Providence to do what was within humanly own competence.

Congratulates Reeve-elect and Other Public Servants on Devotion to Duty

In his final speech as Reeve of Oak Bay yesterday evening, Ernest C. He also thanked members of the council, the Police Commission and the School Board for their earnest work for Oak Bay.

Attorney-General of Manitoba Argues at Inquiry Acceptance of Sums By Judge Stubbs on Surrogate Court Orders Illegal

Motion to Quash The Hearing Fails

Public Interest in Inquiry Indicated By Crowd Which Fills Courtroom in Manitoba Capital

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Jan. 12.—County Judge Lewis St. G. Stubbs to-day lost the first round of his fight to prevent an investigation into sixteen charges of judicial misconduct laid by Hon. W. J. Major, Attorney-General of Manitoba.

In his decision, announced at the opening of to-day's session, Mr. Justice Frank Ford of the Supreme Court of Alberta, who is acting as a federal commissioner, refused to accept a motion by the accused to rule against the jurisdiction of the hearing.

It was a point argued at great length yesterday by the little judge who for more than ten years has been on the Winnipeg county bench, but the commissioner declined to agree with him.

The Minister of Justice, the commissioner held, had satisfied himself the charges, which the accused declared were not acts of judicial misconduct, constituted a prima facie case and, therefore, he was forced to continue the hearing.

HEARS FACTS
It was not up to him to rule, if it were fair or not, he said, and he had to listen to the facts as presented to the commission he had undertaken to conduct.

Chinese Report Fliers Scouting Over Province; Japanese Say Their Troops Moving to Forestall Chinese Irregulars' Forays

Shanghai, Jan. 12.—Japanese airplanes were reported scouting to-day over Jehol (Cheng-Te), former summer residence of the Manchu emperors and now capital of Jehol province, and Chaoyang, near the Manchurian border. These are the two principal cities of Jehol, about 140 miles apart.

Chinese newspapers, which reported the sighting of the planes, also announced receipt of dispatches from southern Jehol and Manchuria stating Japanese were engaged in feverish preparations for an invasion of Jehol. Military leaders predicted sharp fighting if the Japanese expedition already in the ancient Chinese province should continue to advance toward Lingyuan, about 100 miles northeast of Jehol city.

Linyuan is about ninety miles northwest of Shanhaiwan and the section of the Great Wall of China where Japanese-Chinese fighting has occurred during the last ten days. The wall forms the southern boundary of Jehol.

TRAINLOADS OF TROOPS
The Kuomintang (government) news agency stated five trainloads of Japanese troops had departed from Mukden, Manchuria, for Chinchow, Japanese army base east of the Jehol border, and for Tanushan and Kowpang-tse.

The official agency said "the army will advance into Jehol" from those points.

Ship In Distress In North Pacific

The Russian steamship Sakhalin is believed to be in distress in the Sea of Okhotsk, according to messages received in Victoria to-day at the Government Wireless Station from ships which reported they were rushing through the North Pacific to the aid of the disabled steamer, following receipt of SOS calls. It is understood there are 254 Russians aboard the ship.

No details beyond the location of the vessel, in the Sea of Okhotsk off the island of Sakhalin, were carried in the messages.

The San Francisco coastguard station reported the Japanese tanker Manji Maru and the State's Line steamship General Pershing were standing by. The Canadian Government wireless station here named these two craft as rushing to the assistance of the disabled vessel.

The Sakhalin's position was given as 53.05 north, 145.05 east. Marine men here interpreted the spelling of the ship as variant of Sakalin, the only craft of similar name listed in Lloyd's Register.

Tokio, Jan. 12.—A Rengo (Japanese) news agency dispatch said the Okhotski Wireless station to-day received distress calls from the Soviet steamship Sakhalin, 3,649 tons, in the Sea of Okhotsk.

The Okhotski station later tried to contact the Sakhalin but failed. There were 200 passengers reported aboard the other fifty-four being the crew.

The committee decided to question relief officials on the matter.

COMPLAINTS READ

Mr. Sullivan then began reading the particulars of complaints against Judge Stubbs' conduct in connection with the MacDonald will case, which it is charged undermined constituted authority of administration of justice; the Diddle and Pansoni case, which it is said "affected the administration of justice in the public eye"; also Flynn case, which it is claimed also undermined the criminal administration in respect to constituted authority; the Rae case; fees he collected; criticism of law enforcement officers; alleged bias in criminal cases, and receipt of $1,000 in connection with a soldier settlement commission case.

GREAT PUBLIC INTEREST

The tremendous public interest in the hearing was reflected in the fact that a crowd that filled the small courtroom and the number of persons who early this morning lined up in front of the door in hope of securing standing room in the limited space.

Mr. Justice Ford said it must be apparent the final decision in the removing of Judge Stubbs rested with the Governor-in-Council and not with this commission.

OBJECTS TO REMARKS

E. J. McMurray, counsel for Judge Stubbs, objected to remarks of the commission counsel, Arthur Sullivan, K.C., yesterday, who said Judge Stubbs could be removed by the Governor-in-Council even if Mr. Justice Ford's report should be in Judge Stubbs' favor.

Mr. Sullivan replied his remarks expressed his own view and he said they were not meant to influence matters before the commission.

Mr. Justice Ford declared he would make a report that would be legal and would be perfectly correct in making the report. He added the action of the Governor-in-Council in removing or not removing Judge Stubbs was not for him to discuss.

JUDGES COMPLAINT

Among the exhibits entered by counsel one was dated February 26, 1930, and consisted of the complaint of the judges of the Court of Appeal and the Court of King Bench of Manitoba to the then Minister of Justice, Hon. Ernest Lapointe.

Mr. McMurray opposed the entering of this exhibit. He contended the complaint had been disposed of by Mr. Lapointe and was outside the jurisdiction of the commission. It was purely a provincial matter and the commission could not in fairness present a combined judgment of these two courts as a complaint.

Mr. Sullivan replied the complaint in question was res judicata since he had never heard of its having been disposed of and therefore it was a part of the complaint on which Commissioner Ford based his report.

Commissioner Ford agreed with Mr. Sullivan and added: "I will treat it as a complaint only, and will find whether the facts are true or not, but not be bound by any expression of opinion made in the complaint under consideration."

PAMPHLET FILED

With the complaint sent to Ottawa regarding the MacDonald case, Mr. Sullivan filed a pamphlet called "The MacDonald Will Case," written by Judge Stubbs, and copies of newspapers and numerous newspaper clippings dated February, 1930.

Counsel also produced a hand bill announcing a meeting in a theatre at which Judge Stubbs was to speak on the case, Counsel read: "Two million dollars is at stake. Are you interested? If you are, come and hear Judge Stubbs. Get your ears opened. You will be astounded, shocked and horrified."

The fifty-four-year-old accused jurist folded his hands behind his head and leaned back in his chair, smiling at his son seated beside him as counsel emphasized the wording of the bill. The judge was prepared to admit, Mr. McMurray said, most of the exhibits, but he denied any association with publication of the bill.

Commissioner counsel, however, held it was filed only as part of the complaint. He also put in a file of correspondence between the Minister of Justice and "certain judges of the Law Society regarding the judge's actions in the case."

Entry of exhibits was interrupted on the appearance of the Chief Justice of Manitoba, Hon. J. E. P. Prud'homme, who was sworn in as a witness and who identified the complaints of the judges of the Court of Appeal and the Court of King Bench.

When he was asked if any new commission was being formed, he said: "I am not suggesting for a moment that Mr. Dennistoun was interested in all these transactions, but there was evidence he was interested in some of them," counsel declared.

"R. M. Dennistoun, an experienced lawyer, should have known that money in the Macbray-Sharpe trust account were trust money mingled with the firm's money," said Mr. Thomson, "and it does not appear he took any steps to change the practice as far as we know."

Plaintiffs had since been issued or if his views on the matter had changed since the complaint was issued, Mr. McMurray objected to the introduction of opinions of the witness.

Commissioner Ford ruled the witness' opinions were inadmissible in respect to the present commission.

EARTHQUAKE IN NEW SOUTH WALES

Canadian Press
Sydney, Australia, Jan. 12.—Houses rocked and walls cracked in the towns of Goomerah and Yass, New South Wales, as a result of an unusually strong earthquake early to-day which lasted one minute.

Though the main shock occurred about 100 miles from here, it was felt in the Sydney suburbs of Coogee, Bondi and Bellevue Hill. No casualties were reported.

Canadian Press
Burnaby, B.C., Jan. 12.—Unemployed demonstrators raided two stores here about noon to-day and took what they pleased from the shelves before police dispersed them.

CALGARY HAS RELIEF DEBATE

Calgary, Jan. 12.—Proposals to curb city relief expenditures to $250,000 during 1933 as an economy move to protect city funds in the financial crisis arising from debenture exchange payment refusal to-day had been added to Calgary's predicament.

Threat of legal action by bondholders to collect $300,000 in United States exchange, and a deadlock between the city and the Bank of Montreal over a definite line of credit, darkened the outlook for any immediate prospect of settlement of the situation. Efforts to settle points of dispute and obtain sufficient credit in time to pay city employees Saturday were being continued to-day by Mayor Andy Davidson and bank officials.

Opposition to the new relief proposals made by the city council, a Lincoln proposed unemployed families be established in a colony in Turner Valley, where there are between sixty and seventy families, was also suggested.

JURORS FAIL OF AGREEMENT

Unable to Tell Vancouver
Coroner If W. Sugarman's
Death an Accident

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Jan. 12.—No agreement was reached by the coroner's jury which yesterday investigated the death of William Sugarman, artist, painter, retired, who was found dead in his home on Osler Avenue last Friday afternoon with a bullet wound in his chest.

The verdict read: "We, the jury, find that William Sugarman came to his death at 3437 Osler Avenue on January 6, 1933, as the result of hemorrhage from a gunshot wound. We cannot unanimously agree as to whether it was a case of accident or suicide."

When the jurors entered the coroner's courtroom after forty-five minutes' deliberation they were asked whether a verdict had been agreed on. The foreman stated they had been unable to agree, but specified the number of jurors favoring a verdict of "accidental death" and the number which held the opinion it was a "suicide" case.

COUNSEL OBJECTS
Coroner W. D. Brydson-Jack, prepared to record the verdict of the majority and have it signed by the jurors, but he was writing it out in the prescribed form when objection was taken by Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., counsel for the coroner.

"All the jury can do is record a disagreement," Mr. Maitland declared. "It is supposed to be an improper thing in law for the jury to give names according to the way they voted in the case. All they can certify to is that they failed to agree."

The coroner accepted Mr. Maitland's opinion and at his suggestion directed the newspaper reporters present should not publish the result of the jury's vote. Counsel and members of the jury agreed with the verdict as drawn up by the coroner and it was signed in the regular way by the six jurors.

EXPERT TESTIMONY
The gun from which Sugarman died was a .38 caliber five chamber, hammer pistol. When it was found by police on a table in the deceased's room some two hours after he had been found dead, it contained one discharging shell. Detective Horace A. Vince, ballistics expert, testified.

It was lying on the table with a number of rifles and shotguns. Cleaning rods and a brush used for cleaning guns were in evidence as well as four bullets which fitted the revolver. Mr. Vince testified that in his opinion it was impossible for the gun to go off without the trigger being pressed.

"Our contention is that Mr. Sugarman did not know the gun was loaded," Mr. Maitland declared to the court.

Questioned by Coroner Brydson-Jack, Mr. Vince said powder marks on the left hand of the body indicated the gun had been held in that hand and fired with the right thumb. The powder marks would come from the muzzle or chambers which held the shells, when the weapon was discharged. He estimated that when the gun was fired it was about half an inch from Sugarman's body.

DAUGHTER'S EVIDENCE
Discovery of the body was explained by Ruth Sugarman, twenty-three, daughter of the deceased. She said she had left the house at 1 p.m. and left her father working out a chess puzzle. When she returned at about 3 p.m. she went up to his room and found him lying on the floor. Immediately she summoned Dr. D. M. Linehan and then returned to throw a comforter over the body.

Man Asleep When Court Calls Case

Associated Press
Chicago, Jan. 12.—Insomnia victims should read about Joseph Bill.
"Why," asked United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, "didn't you here this morning when your case was called?"
"I was asleep," Bill said. "I've been asleep since last Monday."
A hotel clerk having verified the story, Bill put up $1,000 bond money on a liquor charge, yawned a little more, and then went back home to bed.

Oak Bay Ends Year In Fine Condition

Budget Balanced and Cash Balance in Bank, Reeve Hayward Tells Public Meeting

Tells of Works Done During Year, in Tracing Activities of 1932

Touching upon all important phases of work carried out in Oak Bay during 1932, retiring Reeve E. C. Hayward made his final public appearance as reeve yesterday evening when he addressed a large group of taxpayers in the Municipal Hall. In his report Mr. Hayward laid stress upon the fact that the municipality had finished the year with a cash balance in the bank and had kept well within the estimates.

The main portions of Mr. Hayward's talk follow:

"Official census figures for 1931 gave a population of 5,992 as compared with 4,286 in 1921, an increase of over 41%. It is estimated that the population is now about 6,200.

BUILDING
"There has been a considerable falling off in building in the municipality during the last year. In 1932 permits were issued for sixty-two houses valued at $246,000, as compared with 113 houses valued at $395,000 in 1931. The average value for the 1932 house was nearly $4,000 and reflects the superior type of house being built in the municipality.

ASSESSMENTS
"The 1932 assessment roll for the district as finally passed was land, $3,861,000; improvements, $8,106,000; total, $11,967,000.

For the year 1933, subject to correction by the Court of Revision, the assessor has set the following figures: Land, $3,868,242; improvements, $7,935,990; total, $11,804,232. This shows a slight decrease over the previous year, due chiefly to the decreased cost of building, for which some allowance has had to be made.

"A year ago I told you from this platform, in an optimistic moment, that I could almost promise that there would be no increase in the mill rate in 1932. At that time it was not known or expected that the provincial government would require the municipalities to pay half the cost of mothers' pensions and maintenance of the insane. In spite of these extra burdens, a growing population, and the ever increasing unemployment situation, the council was able by the practice of the strictest economy to produce a budget which maintained the previous rate of twenty-seven mills. This could not have been done, however, without the co-operation of the School Board and Police Commission. The disposition of the twenty-seven mills was as follows: Schools, 11.4 mills; police, 1.9 mills; debt, 1.4 mills and general purposes, 12.3 mills.

"The annual charges to be met for interest and sinking funds amount to roughly $73,000. The requirements for waterworks debt are met from water revenue, the sewer requirements by frontage rates, the school debt requirements by the school levy. The balance is partially met by a part of the year's accumulation to the sinking fund surplus, the remainder requiring a levy of only 1.4 mills last year.

INCOME
"The income of the municipal council is derived from several sources, namely government grants from the liquor profits and from the betting tax. A government grant for schools, water rates, frontage taxes for water sewers and boulevards, the bulk of the revenue is derived from the levy on the assessed value of the land and a percentage of the improvements. For some years past this levy has been twenty-seven mills on the land and thirty per cent of the improvements.

SMALL SURPLUS
"Most of these sources of revenue showed a decided falling off during 1932, and in the middle of the year the council was confronted with a difficult situation. However, by facing the facts courageously, and making drastic reductions in expenditures it was able to cut the total expenditure to an amount within a reasonable distance of the income. While the final exact figures are not yet available, I take pleasure in announcing that recent storms. The total cost was in the neighborhood of $15,000 and was entirely paid from funds previously accumulated for the purpose. There is still about $7,000 in the fund, which will serve as a nucleus for the amount which will eventually be required for the protection of the roadway along McNeill Bay, where the recent storm played havoc.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS

"It has been the policy of the municipality for many years to build no roads, except as work of local improvement whereby the owner benefited pays his share. The municipality of course pays for the intersections, and for the surface drain. Consequently, practically none of the general tax levied is for road construction. This policy has been one of the main factors in keeping the mill rate down, but it does not seem to be fully understood by some of the ratepayers, who expect roads to be built at municipal expense.

"During the last year, the local improvement on Clive Drive was completed, and a short section on South Hampshire was undertaken and completed. Greatford Place, a new road in the Bowker subdivision, was also built at the request of the owners and paid for by them in cash.

"A beginning was made on a sidewalk around the waterfront. In the summer months there is a great deal of pedestrian and motor traffic on Beach Drive. On the particularly dangerous section between Transit Road and the golf links, the road was widened and a section of good sidewalk provided. As soon as conditions warrant it is expected further sections of sidewalk will be built. Surface drains on Monterey and McNeill Avenues and Blyng Street were constructed or started chiefly to provide relief work.

"Short lengths of water main or sewers were constructed on Greatford Place, Lorne Terrace, Monleith Street and South Hampshire Road. Two new hydrants were installed in connection with this work. Owing to the low-lying nature of the land, land, all sewerage from a considerable area in the vicinity of Windsor Park has to be pumped. The tank and pumping station are situated at the corner of Currie and Transit Roads and have been in operation for many years. A considerable amount of surface water has been seeping into the sewer system requiring an unnecessary amount of pumping. One of the two motors, of an obsolete type, was giving considerable trouble and was a source of constant expense. Many of the surface water leaks were found and corrected, with a marked diminution of the amount to be pumped; a new motor was installed, and the compressor given a thorough overhaul so that this system is working much more efficiently.

GAS AGREEMENT

"Over three years ago Oak Bay entered into negotiations with the B.C. Electric Railway Company to secure gas service to the residents of the municipality. After long negotiations the terms of an agreement were settled for some reason the company did not conclude arrangement. Early last year the negotiations were resumed and an agreement was drawn up and signed. Under this agreement the company agreed to expend not less than $50,000 in construction work (chiefly laying mains) within the municipality. The rates agreed upon are not to exceed those charged in Victoria at any time. We understand that the high pressure equipment which it is necessary to erect at the gasworks is on order, and that the work will be proceeded with as soon as possible. Oak Bay is to be used in the Oak Bay portion of the work.

"During the summer months, the water pressure at the municipal boundary where water is received from the city drops to a low level. Water to supply the upper levels at Uplands has to be pumped. Two years ago it was necessary to install a booster pump so that the Uplands pumps could get water. Other parts of the municipality suffered from the lack of pressure. This low pressure was due to frictional loss in the city water pipes caused by the large volume of water used in the city and Oak Bay during the warm days.

STAFF REDUCED

"The sums set aside in the estimates to take care of relief work were inadequate and it became necessary to find some funds elsewhere. It was decided to cut the regular staff of thirty-eight or forty men was cut to eighteen and the others put on half pay. The hours of work were reduced from forty-eight to forty hours per week. The amount usually spent on maintenance, improvement and equipment was reduced as far as possible so as to make ends meet and avoid increasing the burden on the taxpayer.

"For some years the council has been accumulating a fund for the gradual protection of the seaford. During 1931 a short section was built on Beach Drive, between Orchard and Margate, at a cost of approximately $3,700. The wall was completed last year and is a credit to the municipality. It received severe tests during the

STORM CAUSE OF TWO DEATHS

Property Losses in California Are Estimated Above $1,000,000

Associated Press
Los Angeles, Jan. 12.—In the wake of its most terrific windstorm on record, southern California today counted the dead at two, its missing at three and property damage in excess of $1,000,000.

The storm brought winds ranging in velocity from twelve to eighty miles an hour.

Lieut. Commander Carl Hupp of the light cruiser Raleigh was swept overboard and drowned when he attempted to secure a boat attached to the ship while it was buffeted by the storm.

The other person reported a victim of the storm was Theodore Crog, seventy-one, a retired seaman living in a houseboat at Cabrillo Beach. The wreckage of his boat was found on the shore, but no trace of him was found.

HOUSES UNROOFED
Hundreds of houses were unroofed and numerous garages and poultry houses were carried by the wind for distances of a mile or more. Many fruit trees were blown down, as well as telephone and telegraph lines.

County officials attached $1,000,000 would be a conservative estimate of the total loss.

GRAIN SUPPLY CHANGE IN RUSSIA
Moscow, Jan. 12.—A long-expected concession to the peasantry in the effort to extract from that class enough agricultural produce to feed the country has assumed definite form in the publication of a speech by V. Molotov. The President of the Union Council of the People's Commissars announced the government probably would abolish "collections" of grain and substitute a grain "tax" in kind. Referring to a system in effect ten years ago, the grain production of the country would hereafter be placed on the recently instituted basis for meat and butter production.

VICTORIA AND THE TOURIST BUSINESS

Some of the replies to the questionnaire which the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau recently sent out to former tourists for their comments on this community have interested The Ottawa Journal, particularly those from residents of the neighboring republic which suggest that Victoria might become "Americanized." Our contemporary thinks this is "good and needed advice for Canada" because too many of our cities are "just so many miles of Main Street; our architecture, city planning, countryside are largely a carbon copy of what is found across the line."

The Winnipeg Tribune is not impressed by the Ottawa newspaper's argument; it thinks its attitude is somewhat shallow, since, after all, "Canada is a part of America, and its people are in the main, sprung from the same racial stocks as those of the United States," that "similar forces operating in similar environments produce similar results. If we have some American faults, it does not follow that we have copied them from the Yankees." The Tribune strengthens its point with the following observations:

If our energy and our opportunities have produced certain ungracious and disorderly features in our lives, we can make a good beginning toward eliminating them if we stop calling them importations from the United States and examine their true sources. If we tolerate billboards on our highways and build our cities on the pattern traced by greed, it is not because our powerful neighbor has forced us to do these things, but because of some deficiency in ourselves.

If the United States tourist desires something quaint and foreign adjacent to the borders of his own country, let Mexico supply it. Canada has other things to offer, and it will be a dark day indeed when we forget that we are North Americans or "go native" in order to entertain the light-minded.

We think we may assure both The Ottawa Journal and The Winnipeg Tribune that there is very little danger of Victoria doing anything rash in the matter of changing its skyline or in any attempt to alter the general outlook of its citizens. People who come here for business or pleasure from the United States invariably take away with them pleasant memories and come again. They take as they find us, exchange courtesies for courtesies, and all this makes for better understanding between the peoples of the two countries.

Canada has much in common with the United States; this is natural by reason of geography and common origins. It is important, therefore, that a willingness be developed on both sides of the international border to dwell more on the points of similarity and less on the differences in national characteristics and outlook.

MOTHER MARY BRIDGET A PIONEER NUN

Mother Mary Bridget was a conspicuous member of the band of pioneer nuns whose services to this province transcended all material considerations and calculations. With the same self-sacrificing zeal which inspired their sisters of earlier generations to give their lives to the alleviation of suffering and to spiritual uplift in Canada when it was peopled almost entirely by aborigines, these remarkable women, turning their backs upon worldly comforts and pleasures, devoted themselves to the welfare of British Columbia in early days, attending to suffering and distress, and imparting a very necessary mental and spiritual stimulus to those who otherwise would have given up in despair.

To this noble service Mother Mary Bridget consecrated herself some sixty-five years ago, and undeviatingly and unwaveringly carried her cross in its behalf to the end of her life. She was intimately connected with the founding of St. Joseph's Hospital and was, in fact, its first Superior. She was an accomplished nurse, and it would be impossible to over-estimate the contribution she has made to the relief of human suffering in her long association with this fine institution. Likewise her connection with St. Ann's Convent and her interest in the cause of education will long be remembered. Indeed, her whole life, exceeding eighty years, has been a challenge to the materialistic philosophy which for a generation has outwardly dominated the earth, but which is passing away under the pressure of social and economic stress.

Her life, just closed, is an inspiration to humanity, a reminder that the whole justification for our civilization, as well as its only hope of survival, lies in the measure in which mankind exalts the things of the spirit over the things of the flesh. Mother Mary Bridget's career represents much more than the zeal of a venerable sisterhood in a great church. In many of its respects it furnishes a key to the solution of the grim problems which are now distracting the world. The qualities of self-sacrifice, human sympathy and unselfishness, must be in the ascendant throughout the world before mankind will be able to escape from the predicament into which it has plunged itself by its negation of those elementary requirements.

"TRIUMPHANT JUSTIFICATION" AND DECREASED TRADE

We are told in a dispatch from London that supporters of the National Government's tariff policy are claiming "triumphant justification" for the fact that preliminary figures for 1932 show that Great Britain's unfavorable trade balance has been reduced by nearly £122,000,000. It is pointed out, however, that imports dropped in value from £862,000,000 to £703,000,000, while exports fell from £453,000,000 to £416,000,000.

Although the 1932 figures show a reduction in total trade compared with 1931 of £196,000,000, they likewise show a drop of no less than £582,000,000 in comparison with the trade of 1930. In that year exports totalled £657,590,825 and imports accounted for £1,043,975,261, or an aggregate turnover of £1,701,566,086.

If the high protectionists of Great Britain feel inclined to be "triumphant" over a reduction in trade of nearly one billion dollars in twelve months, merely because a traditional adverse balance is not as large as it was, their reasoning is peculiar. It should be understood, of course, that the official trading figures for many years have shown a greater volume of buying than selling. But what is not shown in these statistics is the loss of Britain's invisible exports—shipping services, insurance charges, and so on. These "exports" always have carried the balance to the credit side.

Another point should be borne in mind in any comparison of British exports and imports in 1932 with former years is that, for example, the total trade for 1927, when Mr. Baldwin was in office, carried practically the same ratio of imports to exports as that of 1930, when Mr. MacDonald was in office. Except for the mild experiment under the Safeguarding of Industries Act, Britain then was tariff-free.

What has happened since the introduction of the tariff is a reduction of both exports and imports, but more especially of imports, and the reduction of the debit balance from £408,000,000 to £287,000,000. It also means that there has been a serious falling off in invisible exports, that many more ships have had to be tied up, thus swelling the already large number that continue to wait for cargoes.

Against the claim of "triumphant justification" for the National Government's tariff policy, therefore, probably will be placed by opponents of that policy the fact that the carrying business of British shipping is in a very parlous state, and that the number of unemployed, if anything, has increased since the customs duties on foreign goods went into effect.

OAK BAY CHOOSES A NEW REEVE

The municipality of Oak Bay has been invariably fortunate in its choice of reeve. In its selection of Mr. R. W. Mayhew for the post it has maintained its standard of sound judgment in this respect. Mr. Mayhew is a progressive business man of high character and proven ability. His fine public spiritedness is well known and appreciated not only in his own municipality but, indeed, throughout the whole province. He has been notably active in every cause for the promotion of the welfare of not only the section which has had the good sense to choose him as reeve by acclamation, but of the Island in general. As head of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club he was indefatigable in his efforts to promote the best interests of the community. He never has shirked a task which he felt called upon his sense of public duty, and it was this conscientious conception of his responsibility as a citizen which impelled him against his personal inclination to serve on the Kidd Commission, with all of whose conclusions, it ought to be said, he was not in accord. Mr. Mayhew will give Oak Bay honest, able and unselfish service as reeve. In these respects he will be a worthy successor to Mr. Hayward, who has just closed an admirable record as head of the municipality.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

WOMEN EYE WOMEN
 The New York World-Telegram

More men take a much broader view of women's capacity than the women themselves apparently do when it comes to voting about it. A poll to select the twelve leading American women of the last 100 years, conducted by the National Council of Women and The Ladies' Home Journal, shows that women still look upon social service, education, reform and, in general, "faith in the upward way" as their particular interest. Among the dozen winners all but one—Amelia Earhart—would answer to that description. Two of the others, to be sure, are writers—Harriet Beecher Stowe and Julia Ward Howe. But obviously they are present not as literary figures but because "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" were social forces.

Take the seven women chosen by a vastly preponderant male electorate for the Hall of Fame at New York University. Among them is an actress, Charlotte Gushman, and a scientist, Maria Mitchell, the astronomer. The men in the Hall of Fame show ample recognition for the arts. Nearly one-quarter of the men are writers, and there are also painters, sculptors and actors (Edwin Booth).

LOOKING TO CANADA
 Time

High up in No. 1 Wall Street are the Manhattan offices of Calvin Bullock, investment banking house. There also are the roomy offices of Calvin Bullock, Denver banker who branched east. Calvin Bullock is unique among large banking houses in that it is a proprietary business; there are no partners, no "A Co." Quiet, slow-spoken Calvin Bullock is the firm of Calvin Bullock. Last week Bank and Banker Calvin Bullock launched a new investment trust, Canadian Investment Fund Ltd., designed to invest primarily in Canadian industry.

Like many another thoughtful banker, Calvin Bullock believes that Canada will recover from Depression more rapidly than the United States. Just as Canada boomed less hoisterously than the U.S. before 1929, so has it slumped less dolorously since. Banker Bullock also believes that Canada is in a stage of industrial development comparable to the U.S. before the turn of the century, when investment opportunities were lush. That his new trust may be in on the Canadian know, may garner the fullest harvest for both Canadian and U.S. investors, Banker Bullock has assembled an amazing roster of Canadian potency for his directorate. With him on the board will sit President Arthur Blaikie Purdie of Canadian Industries Ltd., "the Dupont of Canada"; Hon. Louis Alexandre Taschereau, former Prime Minister of Quebec since 1920; Sir Robert Laird Borden, wartime Prime Minister of the Dominion and head of Barclay's Bank of Canada; Norman James Dawes, head of National Breweries Ltd.; Hon. Charles Avery Dunning, a power in the prairie provinces; Hon. Charles Colquhoun Ballantyne, head of Sherwin-Williams Co. of Canada (paint); Sir Charles Blair Gordon, president of Bank of Montreal, and an officer or director in some twenty-five corporations.

Loose Ends

Mr. Hoover puts them on the spot—intelligent people send me many notable ideas—the public mind is shown to be surprisingly elevated—and something is happening down below.

By H. B. W.

ON THE SPOT

PRESIDENT HOOVER, whose record is somewhat melancholy (he had no luck like that of his predecessor, who died in high public esteem last week), is doing a fine thing on the eve of his departure. He is asking the United States to forbid the sale of war material to warring foreign nations. This, I suspect, will put many plutocratic gentlemen in the United States squarely on the spot. It will also test the national conscience of the United States. Since George Washington's time the United States has kept out of foreign wars and entanglements, but she has made large sums by selling guns to other nations who enjoyed that sort of thing. She built up an extraordinary prosperity selling munitions to the belligerents of the Great War before she came in herself.

HAVING SIGNED a pact renouncing war as an instrument of international policy, the United States has no shadow of excuse for selling the implements of war to anyone. Nor has any other nation which signed that pact. Yet we have the delicious spectacle of the United States, among others, supplying munitions to Japan to crush China, although the United States has condemned the invasion and refused to recognize the conquest of Manchuria.

THE ARMAMENT racket, of course, is the best organized, the most successful and the most dangerous in the world. For nearly a century it has stimulated war, fomented hatreds, fattened on the dead of all civilized nations. It enjoyed a period of well-earned prosperity during the Great War, and since then has continued to do well. It has never felt the depression because it is selling more guns than ever. Of course, the Hoover doctrine must be resisted at all costs. Other nations might follow it. After a while, since no nation can fight a first-class war without outside help, this dangerous arrangement might stop first-class wars altogether. Worse, the nations might realize that private profits on the sale of instruments of human destruction are not only bad morals but bad business. They make it too attractive to the manufacturers to create a market for these goods. The nations might decide to take over the manufacture of guns themselves and only manufacture what they really needed. In the end, that will be the only way to prevent the export of arms to foreigners. It would save millions of human lives, no doubt, but it would interfere with private enterprise, with armament dividends, and up to this point our civilization has never hesitated in its choice between dividends and lives.

THANK YOU

THE HIGH intelligence of this column's readers has been demonstrated once more by their response to my request for some notion of what the public really wants to read about. Replies are beginning to come in now, and as you would expect, all of them are on a high intellectual plane; so high, indeed, that I tremble as I gaze up at them from these depths and wonder how I can ever ascend to their level. I still have hopes that some more dull and vulgar readers, who share my elevation, will comfort me with more commonplace ideas.

SO FAR several fellows have asked me to discuss Technocracy, that strange scientific mumbo-jumbo which, although perfectly well known to everyone for a century at least, has suddenly got the world by the tail, merely because of its fancy name and alarming statistics. Several other people wanted me to discuss the Gold Standard, which makes such light and pleasant reading for a worried business man or a tired housewife in the long winter evenings. I have had requests also for more discourses on politics, as if anybody believed in that.

any more. "Give us more communism," said one fellow, and another more human; more on my level, said he liked best to read scurrilous remarks about Vancouver so that he could out them out and send them to his Vancouver friends.

FINALLY I MET a really human chap, who said I should campaign vigorously against drinking by young girls at parties. Their habits, he said, were disgraceful. A few years ago, he said, the young gentlemen could get tight and the girls would stay sober and look after them; but now a fellow had to keep sober to look after the girls, who were sure to get tight. He repeated that it was an outrage and practically ruined social life for him. He thought I ought to stop it and re-assert the old prerogatives of our sex.

YOUNG MEN

A SAANICH GENTLEMAN for whom I have a great respect wants me to get the young men interested in economics. "Thirty years ago," he writes, "Victoria had a club of young Liberals, and they were a power in the city for a time. At present I find an indifference among the young men. The cause is not far to seek. They imagine they are not wanted in the councils of their elders, and maybe they are more than half right. In this there is a good deal of wisdom. Our politics is dominated to-day by old men who think we can get out of this present jam by the methods of their youth, who imagine that, because they lived on smoked salmon and potatoes in the early days, therefore no Canadian should be hungry to-day. Most Liberals, says my correspondent, are still in the Gladstone Age. He is too optimistic. A lot of them are in the original Stone Age.

THEN I GET a charming little poem from some man who signs himself "P.C." and lives somewhere about Saanichton. He describes the winter in that district thus:

Out our way the seagulls fly
 In a crazy pattern across the sky.
 Screaming wherever the ploughman tines,
 Screaming and wheeling on outstretched
 Out our way the oak trees groan
 And whimper and wail for a summer gone;
 Throwing their crackling leaves around
 On the slippery rocks and the sodden ground.
 Out our way when the sun goes down
 You can notice a glare from the lights in town.
 But the hills glow red as night comes on
 And the seagulls fade away one by one.
 Out our way we are all in bed
 By the time the moon swings overhead;
 The hills lie black 'tho' the town is gay.
 We are sensible people out our way.—P. C.

IN THE RUSH

I HAVE QUOTED all these extracts to show you the high level of public intelligence, unsuspected by our politicians, who persist in catering to moron minds. Unhappily, this intelligence never seems to crystallize in elections or public policy. It is lost in the rush. Invite a group of average men to dinner, feed them well, and afterwards, around a fire, they will talk good sense, they will face realities and agree to sane measures of public policy. But in an election campaign all this intelligence is lost, drowned in a sea of talk, swept away by the cross-currents of practical politics. Besides, the politicians seldom give these people a chance to use their heads. Elections nearly always are held on some issue which really doesn't exist, or if it does, is unimportant. A large proportion of our people have ideas on larger subjects of importance, but they never get a chance to vote on them.

YES, IT'S COMING
 WHAT OF IT? Something more important is happening about here, a soft rustle, a whisper ever so faint of an approaching change. Already, unsuspected by the weather experts, the scientists and the statesmen, the year has turned. Down below the ground something is stirring and the things that have their roots there can feel it. We rustic folks who have our roots deep into the ground, we can feel it, too, and we can hear the sound of growth, which is an exceedingly faint sound indeed; very soft, very sweet, the sound of little yellow stalks pushing up through the cold, outer crust of the earth, the silent ringing of the snow-drop bells, the whisper of opening buds.

IN THE SHELTER of the big rocks the snowdrops have suddenly come out like little old men with long white beards and green skull caps, nodding very wisely in the wind. When we cleared away a sodden layer of oak leaves there were daffodils—a good two inches. Not realizing that they were peering above the earth and covered only with leaves, they had got at least an inch ahead of their schedule and looked very white and scared when they found themselves standing naked in a cold world. If you will look close you will find that the buds on the dogwood trees are turning a deeper red and swelling fast. My witch-hazel has burst out with spidery yellow blooms whose sweetness cannot be washed out by rain or cold. Fifteen little yellow stars cling to my jasmine bush against the chimney yonder, and just below, the round fat purple buds of a daphne are yearning to open. Yes, you have guessed the answer. Spring is credible as it may seem, is only about six weeks off.

APOLOGY BRINGS COUNCIL HARMONY

Port Alberni, Jan. 12.—Complete harmony reigned at the meeting of the city council of Port Alberni Monday evening. Mayor Warnock praised the fine and conscientious work of his aldermen during the year and in return was eulogized for the part he had played during a most difficult time. Alderman Fleming congratulated the mayor on being returned to office by acclamation, saying that it was an indication that the people of Port Alberni had every confidence in his executive ability.

On behalf of Alderman Harris, whose absence from the meeting was unavoidable, Mayor Warnock made an apology for certain statements uttered by the alderman at the last meeting in connection with law and order. The mayor said that Alderman Harris had forgotten himself in the heat of debate and sincerely regretted his action. The retraction had been demanded by the police commission and was accepted on their behalf by the mayor and Alderman Fleming.

Usual routine business in connection with correspondence, accounts and reports was dealt with in short order. The city clerk reported that the year's operations would likely show a deficit of approximately $4,000, and it was decided to request a loan of $10,000 from the bank to carry on relief work. On motion of Alderman Fleming and Alderman Watson, it was decided that the trades license of J. Connelly and Sons be suspended from January 15; also, should any application for a trades license be made for the same.

REVIEW LAST YEAR'S WORK

Activities of 1932 Esquimalt Outlined By Reeve Albert Heald

Highlights of the activities of Esquimalt's 1932 council were reviewed to-day by Reeve Albert Heald.

At the beginning of the year the council passed a by-law, at the request of the residents, called the Woolwich Street Extension By-Law, assuring access to the sea, the reeve stated.

It arranged the transfer of rights of the Bullens Park from the original site to a new one on Lyall Street. Since then it has undertaken the development of the new site as a playing field—a relief scheme, using funds donated by residents.

It passed a by-law which will give security to anyone building in the municipality and will improve property values.

Arrangements were made for the public use of the tennis courts at Memorial Park at a small cost, which paid for equipment and made a small profit.

RELIEF PROJECTS

The council was able to arrange with the Dominion government for the control of employment at the new drydock as a relief measure.

That portion of profit made by the municipality on that work was being spent on Bullens Park for supervision and material, making it possible to use all money donated for the playing field's improvement for relief to laborers on the project, he said.

The council entered into an agreement with the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, gas department, for the installation of gas mains in the municipality. Work on this project was, as far as possible, given to Esquimalt men. The gas will be supplied to the municipality at the same rate as it is supplied to consumers in Victoria.

The 1932 council also secured the support of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities to a resolution asking for a special grant for Esquimalt to compensate it for the loss of revenue caused by the exemption of crown lands in the district from taxation. The district's case was presented to Premier Tolmie and his support was enlisted to such effect, he will take the matter up at the coming conference in Ottawa.

The municipal union also supported Esquimalt's case for the securing of license money from beer parlors in the district. The reeve and chairman of the finance committee sat in with the members of the Esquimalt Friendly Help Society at each meeting and were able to make better arrangements for the care of the needy.

SCHOOL BOARD SHOWS SURPLUS

Expenditures For Year Are $2,533 Below Estimate in Budget

Gross Cost of Education, Including Debt Charges, Was $596,918 in 1932

Revealing a surplus credit of $2,533 on the year's operations, the financial statement of school costs for 1932 was presented to the School Board yesterday evening.

Out of a levy of $457,387.04 for school purposes, the net expenditures were $454,854.10, the statement showed.

The news of the surplus, announced by Trustee J. L. Beckwith, chairman of the finance committee, was warmly greeted by the members of the board as revealing the board had used the strictest economy in watching its purse strings last year as this credit balance was provided on a well cut budget.

The statement presented by Mr. Beckwith showed expenditures totaling $508,798.33 with the addition of $88,120.04 for debenture interest and sinking funds, making a grand total of $596,918.37, which was the gross cost all accounts for education. Partially offsetting this were receipts of $142,054.27, which included $21,333.31 still owing by the provincial government on grants to teachers' salaries for the last two months of the year.

AUTO TOLL IS SMALLER

Esquimalt Had One Fatality Last Year With Fewer Accidents

The total of fines collected in the Esquimalt Police Court last year was $686.47, according to the annual report of Chief Pecknold, submitted to the Board of Police Commissioners.

These fines were levied as the result of forty-five police court cases in which convictions were ordered, the majority being for infractions of the Motor-Vehicles Act. Among other cases before the court were: Three charges of breaking and entering, one of arson, one of assault, nine under the Liquor Act, four of theft, two of vagrancy.

Acting as tax collectors the officers took in $705 for trade licenses, $195 for poll tax, $108 for road tax and $304 for dog tax.

Twenty-four animals were impounded and eleven dogs and two cats were destroyed.

Motor accidents were at the lowest mark for years with only thirty-six reported and only one fatality. The only other death occasioning an inquest was a drowning.

FIRE LOSS SMALL

In twenty-nine fires damage was done to property valued at $23,056, covered to the extent of $18,600 by insurance. The actual loss was $3,628 on buildings and $1,200 on contents.

In his report the chief comments that the district is gratifyingly free from crime. He attributes the decrease in court cases under the Liquor Act from twenty-five in 1927 to nine in 1932 to the fact that there was less business done in the beer parlors and that the proprietors of these establishments have been more careful in serving patrons.

In conclusion he records the appreciation of his department for the cooperation shown by the Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and provincial police departments.

TAX DEFAULTS HIT ESQUIMALT

Net Liabilities For 1932 Less Than Unpaid Taxes of Two Property Holders

Unpaid taxes of two major property owners in Esquimalt exceeded the current liabilities of that municipality, it was announced by Reeve Albert Heald in a financial statement on the district's condition to-day.

Net liabilities for 1932 amounted to $36,428.22. Taxes outstanding totaled $46,155.25 of these two interests owed approximately $33,000. Liabilities included bank notes outstanding, amounting to $20,950, plus an overdraft of $1,629.11, making a total of $22,579.11 less cash on hand of $2,796.42, which gave a net debt of $19,782.62.

To this was added local service, accounting outstanding, of $9,802.49, including mental hospital expenses, mothers' pensions, general accounts outstanding as well as the school board surplus.

The sale surplus, deposits for sewers and plumbing and registration fees raised the total to $29,555.89. But this was reduced by government grants for teachers' salaries for November and December, the government's share of direct relief and sundries amounting altogether to $4,277.67. This sum brought down the liabilities to a net $25,278.22.

TAXES OUTSTANDING

The taxes outstanding during 1932 were $22,476.42 plus interest on the general rate, $3,679.80 for sewer rates and rentals and $20,139.23 plus interest on the 1931 tax arrears.

Tax sale certificates subject to redemption during last year amounted to $12,713.54.

The police department finished the year under its $5,553 estimates to effect a saving of $128.31.

The municipality inherited net liabilities of $17,919.94 from 1931. These included bank notes outstanding of $15,440, a school surplus of $3,816.50, tax sale registration fees of $160, deposits for sewers and plumbing of $394, sundry outstanding accounts of $1,384.65, and tax sale surplus of $850. The total of $22,011.95 was reduced to a net $17,919.94 by assets in cash on hand and in the bank of $4,091.92.

Other features in Esquimalt's liabilities other than the nonpayment of important taxes included a drop of $2,966.18 in government grants from what was estimated, and an increase in the costs of social services amounting to $3,500.

Tax collections in 1932 were 67.47 per cent in 1931 were 72.09 per cent and in 1930, 81.70 per cent.

COAL IMPORT PLAN OPPOSED BY LADYSMITH

Ladysmith, Jan. 12.—Importation of British coal into British Columbia caused much debate at the regular meeting of the board of trade Tuesday evening.

The members expressed the opinion that any resolution dealing with the matter was apt to tread on delicate ground, as the arguments of the importers were plausible, and the provisions of the agreements arising from the Imperial Conference at Ottawa had to be considered. There was, however, the dominant feature, that the economic welfare of one of British Columbia's important and basic industries was greatly menaced by the new conditions.

It was apparent, unless organized protest was made, that these conditions would become more and more aggravated. One member expressed the view that the process was one of "carrying coals to Newcastle," and a trade method that ballasted empty grain carriers on the westward route, at the expense of the coal industry, was of doubtful help to the wheat growers, and a lame interpretation of the spirit of the Ottawa Conference. After further discussion, a committee of three, comprising the president, the secretary and T. Collinge, will draft a motion of protest and place it in the hands of the proper authorities.

How to Guard against the
FLU

Every Times reader is urged to heed these precautions

The flu epidemic has reached this community. The health authorities are doing their part, but every individual must be on guard.

Keep the family medicine chest supplied with the sensible aids to health; any sickness weakens the system and lowers your resistance to germs.

Every household should have at least one hot water bag, in good condition, or an electric pad; and a fever thermometer. Sleep in airy rooms, with ample covering. Avoid an overheated house during the day; dress warmly when you go out. Beware of over-crowded cars, poorly ventilated public meeting places, stuffy telephone booths. Flu is contagious! Breathe through the nose. Keep the system alkaline, the bowels in good order; Phillips' Milk of Magnesia will help you do both. If you have any symptom of a cold, take some Aspirin according to directions. Don't lose even five minutes! Genuine Aspirin tablets can't harm you, but a common cold is dangerous at a time like this.

Eat plain foods, get enough rest, and don't over-do. Take these extra precautions to keep in sound physical condition, so your system will have normal resistance against germs.

At any sign of actual flu, call a doctor at once. Do not try to treat yourself for influenza!

DESERTED BABY
WINS LOTTERY

Unexpected Windfall Rewards Finders of Abandoned Polish Child

Warsaw, Jan. 12.—If it had not actually occurred one would have thought the story of Pan Katucinski, a peasant whose little farm in the village of Plonka, came from a book of fairy tales.

Pan Katucinski was crossing one of his fields, when he saw a white bundle in a furrow. On picking it up, he found that it contained little garments for a baby. Carefully pinned to one of them were two tickets in the state lottery.

An hour earlier his wife had found the child in a field with a note pinned to its clothing in which the mother said she had been forced by bitter need to give up her child and begged the finder to care for it.

The couple decided to keep the child, and a few days later Pan Katucinski had to go to Warsaw.

He was informed that a lottery prize of about $3,500 was waiting for him.

Mrs. J. Patterson Made President

The annual meeting of the South Saanich Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. C. L. Egan, Wednesday afternoon.

An excellent report of the year's work was given by the secretary which showed the institute had experienced a successful year, both socially and financially.

The retiring president, Mrs. A. Hafer, thanked the directors and members for their co-operation during the year. A wool bee will be held at the Temperance Hall, January 18. Refreshments were served at the close by the hostesses, assisted by Misses Alice Styan and Doris Mitchell.

It was decided to hold the next monthly meeting in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. E. Nimmo.

Uncle Wiggily's
Accident

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"I am going to look for an adventure in my ice boat," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Where is your ice boat?" asked Jimmie Wiggily, the duck boy. For it was the quacking voice of Jimmie that Uncle Wiggily had heard just as he was about to set sail in his ice boat.

"Here it is," said the rabbit gentleman, pointing to the pieces of wood fastened together like the letter T with some old-fashioned wooden skates nailed on the ends. "This is my ice boat. Some of my rabbit boys also made one and they are sailing it on the other side of the duck pond. So I came here to be alone and sail my ice boat."

"But you aren't alone now!" quacked Jimmie, with a laugh. "I'm with you, Uncle Wiggily."

"I am glad to have you," said Mr. Longears politely. "Would you like to come for a sail with me in my ice boat?"

"Yes, thank you," Jimmie answered. "But I don't see any sail. I thought ice boats had to have a sail just like other boats that go in the water instead of skimming on top of the ice."

The ice began to crack.

"So they do," said Uncle Wiggily. "This is my sail," and he held up his big umbrella that he nearly always carried with him so his pink, twinkling nose wouldn't get wet.

"Oh, that will be fine," quacked the duck boy. "I'll come with you. I hope you don't have an accident!"

"Why should I have an accident?" asked Uncle Wiggily, looking quickly at Jimmie as they were about to take their places in the ice boat.

"Well, you never can tell," quacked the duck boy. "I'll come with you. I have an adventure."

"That's better!" laughed the rabbit gentleman. "Well, all aboard!" he called.

"All aboard!" quacked Jimmie. Uncle Wiggily opened his umbrella. The wind blew under it and as the rabbit gentleman held the handle so his umbrella wouldn't blow away, off moved the ice boat, taking the duck boy and the bunny uncle on a jolly fast ride over the frozen top of the pond.

But Mr. Longears found it hard work to hold the handle of the umbrella in one paw and steer the ice boat with another paw, so he said:

"Jimmie, could you steer, do you think? That will be easier than holding fast to the umbrella, for the wind is blowing strong."

"Yes, Uncle Wiggily, I think I can steer," quacked the duck boy. "But where do you want me to steer?"

"Anywhere so that we may find an adventure," answered Jimmie.

He took hold of the steering handle in one of his wings which he could wobble and wobble about quite a bit. First Jimmie steered to the left. Then he steered to the right and then he steered straight ahead right down the frozen pond toward the far-off end.

"I think there will be an adventure down there," quacked Jimmie.

"Let's hope so," said Mr. Longears. "This is lots of fun," quacked Jimmie as the ice boat sailed faster and faster, for the wind was blowing hard under the open umbrella.

"I'm glad you like it," said Uncle Wiggily.

Though it was cold neither the rabbit nor the duck boy minded it, for Uncle Wiggily had on a warm coat of fur and Jimmie's thick winter feathers kept him very cozy.

All of sudden, as the two friends were sailing along there sounded a loud cracking noise.

"What's that?" shouted Uncle Wiggily.

"I don't know for sure," Jimmie answered, "but maybe it's an accident!"

And surely enough it was an accident. The ice over which the boat of the rabbit gentleman was skimming was too thin to hold them all up and it began to crack. The ice broke into many pieces. Great holes in it showed the cold water beneath.

"Oh, Oh!" quacked Jimmie. "We're going to break through the ice!"

"Quick!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Steer for that little island, Jimmie boy!" The rabbit pointed to a little island of rocks and bushes in the middle of the pond. While Mr. Longears held the umbrella to catch all the wind, Jimmie turned the steering handle and soon the boat slid across the broken pieces of ice, out of the cold water, up on the shore of the little island.

"Now we are safe!" quacked Jimmie. "But it was an accident all right."

"It surely was," said Mr. Longears. "And I wonder how we are to get off this island? My ice boat can't sail on water." But don't worry, the rabbit and duck will be all right. And if the corkscrew will stop pulling feathers out of the dusting brush to make the pussy cat look like a canary bird, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily on the island.

WEDDING ON
ROLLER SKATESOnly Skating Minister Needed
For Jan. 18 Ceremony

Associated Press

Revere, Mass., Jan. 12.—A roller skating minister is wanted for 10 p.m. January 18.

More than a year ago Helen D. Dee, twenty-one, a Boston telephone operator, entertained herself by roller skating. Lawrence Acker, twenty-four, of Milton, a spring salesman, had a like taste in the line of amusement.

Miss Dee liked to watch Acker's "figure eight," and Acker showed interest in the way the telephone operator whirled about on the rollers. Soon they were waiting together on skates, and on January 18 they are going to marry on skates.

Of course the marriage is going to be in a public ballroom, but nevertheless the six bridesmaids will all be on rollers, the six ushers will be similarly equipped, as will be best man and maid of honor, and all that is needed is the roller-skating minister.

First Child of King Boris and Queen Joanna Expected Soon

Sofia, Bulgaria, Jan. 12.—Queen Joanna, who since the beginning of December has been staying at Varna Palace, returned to Sofia to-day to await the birth of her first child. The imminence of the event monopolized the interest of the nation.

Parliament was planning to rush through a political amnesty applicable to many political exiles, including Communists. The government also was preparing a measure for pardoning hundreds of prisoners in Bulgaria in celebration of the birth of the first child of King Boris and Queen Joanna.

WEEK-END
MURDER

By GABRIELLE E. FORBUSH

CHAPTER XXIII

"Tom, I couldn't help it. We were cornered, and frankness was the only thing possible! It had to be done at once, or—even if he didn't go—we couldn't have gained back the ground we lost when he got on to your search of his place."

It was what Linda had hoped for—a brief moment alone with her husband before they faced, together, the talk with the man to whom she had revealed their secret. In the kitchen, cracking ice and opening ginger ale bottles, while from the terrace came the murmur of voices as Shaughnessy and Stalander talked sporadically, Linda hastily strove to justify herself—to overcome the horror with which she had greeted her confession of what she had done.

"It was the only thing to do, Tom—you must see that!"

"Well—," he rallied a little but still was far from convinced. "At least we don't have to tell him everything."

"I'm sure he didn't do it," Linda announced staunchly.

"You're easy, Binks. No need to splutter! This proves it. He'll know I'm more sceptical and he's had time to prepare his story. Still, so have I. Leave this to me, please. I'm sorry it happened but I guess you're right. Better be out in the open. At least he'll feel safe and we handle him right there's no chance now of his bolting. That would be a confession and he's no such fool!"

"Then you still think he might be the one? Even after what poor old Shaughnessy said? She said the spots were liquor and grass stains and she saw them. We didn't."

"Doesn't affect the issue one way or another. We're simply lost that clue."

The Irishman made a sound that could pass for acquiescence—but it was by no means cordial. "And now," he asked, "will you favor me by doing one thing? Assume for the time being I was Mr. Please separate out all the clues that point elsewhere, and state the case against me as if you were sure that I was the guilty person."

There was a moment's silence. Linda felt surprise vibrating in the still air. Shaughnessy had spoken courteously but with determination. Tom must now make up his mind whether to answer with perfect frankness or whether to continue his policy of seeming to tell everything without giving certain definite information.

While he hesitated, the Irishman leaned forward and as a match was struck Linda caught the gleam in the gray, dark-lashed eyes. There was defiance in them—almost bravado—and in the twist of his lips, too.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

If the mother is to deal effectively with temper tantrums, she must have some understanding of them and herself to avoid them. There is always something very wrong when a child has to make content use of temper explosions to get his way.

RESTRICTED MOVEMENT.

The initial anger situation which can be aroused in even the young baby is to thwart his free movements.

This natural temper situation is aggravated over and over in every baby's life by his mother's handling of him. There are many ways in which, quite unconsciously, the mother's handling tends to make the baby feel himself a helpless prisoner. When this happens the screams his remonstrance against it.

It is the older child whose temper tantrums arouse the mother a like fury. Yet the runaway is constantly having his activity hampered for his own safety, for his mother's convenience, and for the safety of the household possessions. A certain amount of restraint is necessary and, if not carried to extremes, will not arouse unusual temper situations. The child discovers that there are some things he cannot do and some he can, and he satisfies himself with those he can.

"BOSSY" MOTHER.

The overly domineering mother, the mother who strives for the perfectly obedient child teaches him that his only weapon against such petty domination is to have a temper tantrum. Such an exhibition should warn the mother that she is being too bossy, and is persecuting the child in an effort to prevent his doing everything that will arouse her disapproval. The mother needs treatment in this case, not the child.

Play situations may arouse temper tantrums. The child wants to be the master of his toys and quite often they master him. He cannot pull the wagon because one wheel is stuck behind a chair. He cannot make the blocks stand up. He cannot prevent his kiddy car from running away from him, so he stands and screams in helpless rage against the power of inanimate objects. If the mother will step in, tell the child what is wrong, and show him how to correct it himself, she can end this quickly.

DISCIPLINE NOT NEEDED.

Temper tantrums are stimulated by fatigue. Most often the child gives way to rage when he is too tired to be reasonable. A tactfully enforced rest period, a warm bath, and a change of occupation are needed, not discipline.

The temper tantrums which arise from the child's desire to focus attention upon himself are perhaps best known and most publicized. If the mother can eliminate all these other causes of tantrums, she is certainly in a position to treat the temper tantrums, which are put on for the sake of snatching adult attention, with the contempt and indifference they richly deserve. My leaflet, "How to Manage Temper Tantrums Situations" will further help the mother in clearing up this habit. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to me in care of this newspaper.

Hundreds Enjoyed Verbal Battles At Saanich Meeting

Reeve Crouch and Councillor Hoare Are Subject of Much Questioning

Reeve Says Saanich Strong Financially; Promises Little Tax Increase

Verbal fireworks scintillated yesterday evening at St. Mark's Hall in Ward Two, Saanich, when Reeve Crouch and Councillor Dennis Hoare were subjected to much heckling as to their actions in office last year, especially in regard to treatment of unemployed. Both candidates strongly defended themselves before an audience of more than 350. Many vigorously supported the critics while others cheered the reeve and councillor.

C. H. Underwood, chairman, had a hard struggle to maintain orderly procedure, but obtained a fair hearing for all candidates, most of the noise developing at question time.

While the Ward Two big meeting was in progress at St. Mark's Hall an audience of eighty people was addressed in Marigold Hall in Ward Four, the first speaker being Reeve Crouch. The meeting was presided over by A. R. Nex, who had no trouble maintaining order. Except for the formal annual report of Councillor W. H. Woods, re-elected by acclamation, the speeches were similar to those given at St. Mark's Hall.

MR. FRENCH SPEAKS

Mr. French said that a brave outlook on conditions would aid in recovery. He was confident that business could get no worse, as stores and warehouses had depleted shelves and industrial plants must shortly resume activity. He disapproved of the reduction in assessment on all land and improvements. The law, only allowed a levy of 20 mills for general purposes, and the cost of the schools made a levy of 40 to 45 mills a certainty.

The unpaid waterbills of Saanich totaled about $14,000 and some form of settlement should be arranged, possibly by allowing debtors to work out their overdue accounts.

The financial statement issued by Reeve Crouch was criticized by the candidate, especially in regard to the stated deficit of $38,000. "I will not be surprised to find that deficit really totals $75,000," he said, "remembering that the statement was not signed by the auditors."

In connection with Reeve Crouch's statement that teachers' salaries were behind to the extent of the unpaid provincial grant for December, Mr. French charged that the government only received the Saanich requisition on January 6.

The item of bank interest, totaling nearly $5,000, was due to carrying a bank overdraft of nearly $75,000 for most of the year. That was poor financing, he considered, and one of the arguments for a change in management. "Yet we are told 'a period of storm and stress is no time to change the captain of the ship,'" Mr. French said.

The candidate had heard many complaints in regard to erection in Saanich of poor types of buildings. He understood Saanich had a building by-law, with plenty of teeth, but it had not been enforced. If elected he would enforce the measure.

He had no political aspirations, and had been well known in Saanich for forty years. If elected reeve he would give his best services.

tures to bring the total down to a rate which would not discourage taxpayers. Cheaper street lights had been obtained as a result of the shut-down last summer, but it would cost $65,000 to install a centrally controlled lighting system.

The fire department was efficient and had enabled Saanich to obtain lower insurance premiums.

Library service cessation was explained, the refusal of the Victoria Library to allow Saanich control of tickets being termed "somewhat arbitrary." The service given by many libraries had cost more than the total taxes paid on the property occupied. An effort was being made by the council to secure permission for individual residents to pay for service. He was opposed to the municipal treasury being obligated to pay $4,000 or $5,000 for library service.

Councillor Hoare explained at length a wood hauling arrangement with a man on relief, declaring that the provincial inspector of relief had been satisfied with the arrangement. While the hauling had involved monthly gross earnings of over $200 for several months, nearly all the money had been paid out for expenses. The real earnings had been about $20 each month in addition to the regular weekly relief allowance.

The councillor answered many questions and ended with a brief appeal for re-election on his record. "If this is the last stand of 'Denny the Cobbler' I'm going down with flying colors," he concluded.

REEVE AGGRESSIVE

While Councillor Hoare was dealing with questions, Reeve Crouch, from Marigold, opened his address by commenting, "You seem to have been having a pretty lively meeting, well, I'm in pretty good form myself, so go to it."

"Five councillors have been returned by acclamation. That shows satisfaction with your administration; it also decides the policy for the coming year and nothing done here can change it," the reeve commented.

He reviewed municipal business on lines followed at earlier meetings, only touching briefly on police administration, library and street lighting.

New homes built in Saanich last year had been more than sixty above the combined total of Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt. "That fact shows what outsiders think of Saanich affairs and the way we have been doing things here," he asserted. He believed closer settlement in the urban ward would make financing of a sewer system practical within a comparatively short time.

The fireworks was not making the profits commonly ascribed to the system, there being $700,000 of debentures outstanding, which cost $50,000 yearly for interest and sinking funds. "I can balance the budget," he said, "quickly on your water accounts. There are outstanding bills totalling over $13,000, but in normal times this item is still about $9,000. I can cut the water off those in arrears, which includes hundreds of families on relief. Such a policy cannot be considered for a minute," he said.

The waterfrontage tax brought in $20,000 yearly and offset the loss of $1,191 shown by the official government report on the system. "We should get water from Victoria for 6 1/2 cents per 1,000 gallons," he asserted, when telling of the pending negotiation of a new agreement with Victoria.

SCHOOL LIMIT REACHED

Reeve Crouch emphatically declared that reductions in government grants for teachers' salaries would have to be made if the school board, "We have been advised the grant will be cut by $20,000. Saanich has reached the limit it can pay for schools," he said.

Denouncing transfer to municipalities of social service costs borne by the province until last year, the reeve said: "This move is in part due to people who hold social services should be discontinued. But that is impossible, such expenses as mothers' pensions, hospitals and other social services must increase and the government is apparently realizing that fact," he said.

The old saying, "Curiosity, thy name is woman," is all wrong, says Mahdi. Men are just as curious regarding the future as are women, but they ask more serious questions, whilst the average woman is more flippant, although the last few years have made a great difference.

Mahdi is giving a demonstration of crystal gazing at the Columbia Theatre, this week, in answer to the many requests of his radio listeners.

DOMINION THEATRE

"A Farewell to Arms," with Helen Hayes, Gary Cooper and Adolphe Menjou in the leading roles, is now at the Dominion Theatre.

The film is a picturization of Ernest Hemingway's famous novel of the same name, and was directed by Frank Borzage and Benjamin Glazer, the two men who were responsible for another widely heralded love story of the war, "Sergeant Xanthopoulos." Like the earlier film, it tells the story of a man and woman who loved greatly against the background of war.

Gary Cooper has the role of Frederic Henry, a Canadian lieutenant in the Italian ambulance corps.

Fairfield Players To Present Comedy

The Fairfield Players will present "The Yellow Shadow," a rollicking, three-act comedy, in the Shrine Auditorium on January 20, at 8:30 p.m. The play will be presented under the auspices of the Sir Edward Carson, O.L.C., No. 2394, and a capacity audience is expected.

The play is a real mystery, packed with strange effects usually produced only on the professional stage. There are strange sounds, strange disappearances, black arms lifting people into unknown terrors and through it all excellent comedy to relieve the high tension which the action produces.

Those who remember "The Ghost Bird," presented by the Fairfield Players a year ago, will be delighted to learn of the presentation by that group of Clark Yvonne's "mystery comedy," "The Yellow Shadow."

DUNCAN NOTES

Duncan, Jan. 12.—Members of the Junior W.A. of St. Mary's Church, Soanies, and children of the Sunday school, had an enjoyable party in the schoolhouse, January 7, when over forty youngsters were present.

Games were under the supervision of the rector, Rev. A. Bischoff. Prizes for the doll-dressing competition, which were presented by the diocesan board to the Junior W.A., were won by Joan and Joy Willis.

Regret was expressed at the absence, owing to illness, of the president, Mrs. G. A. Tisdall.

MYSTERY DRAMA AT THE CAPITOL

"Sherlock Holmes" With Clive Brook and Miriam Jordan Opens Here To-day

With a cast of notables, for the greater part from the English stage, "Sherlock Holmes" opened at the Capitol Theatre to-day. Clive Brook, who needs no introduction, portrays the role of the great detective and makes the super-man hunter more human than do even the Conan Doyle stories.

The story is well sustained and embraces many thrilling sequences. It has to do with Holmes' method of handling a reign of terror created in London by Moriarty, the master criminal, and a gang of American and English racketeers.

In fact, "Moriarty" sets the stage for Holmes to commit a murder, but the super-criminologist sees through the trick and circumvents his ancient enemy in a neatly planned hoax.

Thinking Holmes and "Gore-King," chief of the Intelligence Department, out of the way, the gangsters inaugurate a reign of terror, but they are run down and either killed or captured by the police, while Holmes outwits and out-thinks Moriarty, sending him to a death cell.

Also on the same programme is "Handle With Care," starring James Dunn.

"Dumbbells" Open Here on Monday

The regular advance sale of tickets for the forthcoming engagement of the Dumbbells will open at the box-office of the Royal Victoria Theatre to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. The Dumbbells will be the attraction at that theatre for the entire week commencing next Monday evening, and during that time they will present two sparkling musical revues. The first production is called "Here We Are Again," while the bill for the last half of the week is entitled "Keep Smiling." Both revues have been presented alternately by the Dumbbells throughout Canada this season, and have been enthusiastically received.

"Thunder Below" At the Playhouse

One of the largest practical "properties" ever constructed for motion pictures was completed recently for Paramount's "Thunder Below," now being shown at the Playhouse Theatre with Tallulah Bankhead in the starring role and Charles Bickford, Paul Lukas, Eugene Pallette and Ralph Forbes featuring.

It is a fifty-foot tropical raft, used in jungle sequences. Built of logs, it is in two sections, both of which are roofed with palm-leaves. One portion is constructed as crude sleeping quarters for a party of exploring engineers and is enclosed with mosquito netting. The other is a floating stable for donkeys.

On the same programme is "Big City Blues," with Joan Blondell in the leading role.

scale to photograph it. Douglas Fairbanks is showing at the Empire Theatre in "Mr. Robinson Crusoe," his newest picture, and in many ways his best in years.

The picture is not, as believed, a travelogue. It tells a sustained story, one based upon the celebrated Defoe character. But it goes a lot farther than the Robinson Crusoe of fiction, and, moreover, it handles its subject matter with a sense of humor, an ingredient unknown in the famed classic. There's a character called Friday the Thirteenth and there's another called Saturday.

MULTNOMAH FIVE BEAT VANCOUVER

Touring Portlanders Cagers Whip Province Quintette in Overtime

New Westminster, Jan. 12.—Opening an overtime session with a barrage of shots on the Vancouver Province's basket which netted them thirteen points without a response, Multnomah club of Portland, Ore., maintained their record for straight wins by taking the Vancouver team into camp by a count of 43 to 36 in an exhibition basketball contest here yesterday evening.

The game was forced into the extra period when Burnstead sank a free shot for the Province with less than half a minute to play to tie the count at 30 to 30.

The game was one of the fastest and cleanest seen here for some time, and every outweight by their travel weary and outwitted by their much taller opponents, they dashed up an exhibition of combination play that has seldom been equaled here.

NAVY TAKES SOCCER LEAD

Draw With Hudson's Bay to Gain First Place in Wednesday Loop

Hearts Defeat Empress Hotel 6 to 1; Newell Scores Three Goals

Although held to a scoreless draw by the Hudson's Bay at Lower Beacon Hill, Navy footballers moved into top berth in the Hayward Cup Wednesday League football play yesterday, gaining the second point from their deadlock to climb above Saanich. The department store moved up into a bracket with the suburban team in second place, while Hearts broke into the victory column with a 6 to 1 decision over the Empress Hotel at Heywood Avenue grounds.

The standings follow:

Empress Hotel ..... 0 5 1 2 24 1

Good football was scarce in the Bays-Navy tussle, although both squads turned in hard games. Kick-and-run plays featured the encounter. In the second half the sailors combined fairly well, but their shooting was off.

Bays swung away on the attack at the start, Bently nearly scoring on a cross from Coates. The sailors replied with a rush which ended when Wilson drove in two shots on Shrimpton. Neither reached the help.

Maintaining their offensive the Navy stayed in the departmental ground. Robinson drove in a long shot that just sailed over the bar. After some ragged play the tars gained a corner, but were unable to make it count.

At half time the sailors revamped their line, but could not make any impression, although they forced a couple of corners after the storemen had gone deep into their territory. Wilson, Navy centre, sustained an injured knee and left the field temporarily. Play speeded up and Woodley broke up a good Navy rush to send the ball to Fish, who in turn lost to McDonald. Cosier and Mar went down on a good combination movement which ended when Oakman came out to meet them.

For the remainder of the game play ping-ponged between the two ends. Several plays came near being scores, but neither team could get the ball between the posts.

Alcock refereed. The teams follow: Navy—Barker, Woods, McDonald, Roberts, Robinson, Sadler, Cosier, Marr, Wilson, Bennallick and Stone. "Hudson's Bay"—Shrimpton, Clark, Menzies, Oakman, Woodley, Cull, Collier, Bentley, Davis, Fish and Coates.

Victory of the Hearts over the Empress Hotel was featured by the scoring of three goals by Don Newell, right-winger. Play in the first half saw the Hearts gain a 2 to 1 lead on goals by Newell and Len Bryant. Vance netted the goal for the hotelmen.

With the start of the second half the Hearts dominated play and Preston brought the score up to 3 to 1 soon after the restart. Heading in a centre from Brown, McBride made it 4 to 1. The Hearts continued to press hard and Newell registered his second goal, while a few minutes before the final whistle the same player scored his third counter.

Johnson refereed. The teams follow: Hearts—McMillan, Champion, Speller, A. McBride, A. Speller, Hickman, Brown, Bryant, Preston, M. McBride and Newell. Empress Hotel—Griffiths, Rawnsley, Jim McMillan, Stokes, Johnson, Wensley, Gould, Scott, Vance, Chesworth and Joe McMillan.

How Can a Grown Man Keep His Mother From Bossing Him? — Can Husband Who Twice Broke His Promise Be Trusted Again?

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a man of twenty-eight. My father has been out of work and I have gladly kept up the home because I feel that it is my duty. I have no money. My mother absolutely enslaves me and tries to take away from me every vestige of personal liberty. Why do mothers feel that it is their God-given right to boss their children even to the extent of telling them where to go, what to do, what to eat, what to wear, whom to associate with and when to blow their noses? Isn't there some way of making mothers find their own business after their children are grown-up men and women and perfectly able to run their own affairs? ROBERT.

Answer—I'm afraid not, Robert, because you see mothers never find out that their children grow up and get to be intelligent men and women, capable of shaping their own lives. To mother her sons and daughters are always toddling infants who have to be held by the hand and told to eat their spinach, and not to sit up later than 8 o'clock.

And because mother knew best when her children were three years old she continues to think she knows best for them as long as they live. That is why she meddles in all of their affairs and thrusts unsought advice upon them and tries to impose her own opinions and habits upon them. It never occurs to her that her children have any minds or personality of their own, or that their tastes and inclinations and talents may be different from hers. Nor does she ever realize that her children are living in a different world from hers, and that she can no more steer them along the course they must travel than a land-lubber could furnish a chart to a pilot to cross the ocean.

I do not know of any other one thing that brings about more unhappiness than this obsession that mothers have about their children remaining perpetual feeble-minded infants, even after they have attained man's and woman's estate. It drives mother and boys away from home than anything else in the world. Tom and Sally get so worn out with mother's perpetual questioning about where they are going and where they have been and whom did they see and where did they meet that girl or boy and who was his or her father and mother and where did they come from, and so on and so on, that they flee from it at the first possible moment.

Thousands of girls have got married and other thousands have got jobs in distant cities just to get away from mother's incessant henpecking. Better, they think, to put up with a grouchy husband, or live in a hall bedroom and look over the gas jet than to listen to mother continually telling you what to eat and what to wear and to be sure to put on your rubbers and cover up your throat and watch out for automobiles and to come home early and not to stay out after 12 o'clock when you go to a party, and so on and so on.

It isn't that the young people want to do anything wrong. It is just that they want to have a little privacy and a little liberty and the right to do what they want to do without having to explain it, or account for it, or to be nagged about it.

And mother simply can't understand this, and she can't comprehend why her children resent it, nor why her married daughters think they have a right to keep house in their own way, and manage their husbands after their own fashion and bring up their babies according to the latest theories. Mother is so sure that her way is best and that she still has a perfect right to live their lives for them and manage their affairs for them, no matter how old they are.

It is mother's tyranny that is at the bottom of nine-tenths of the friction between children and their parents, and especially between in-laws. Mother is trying to make her children live the life she lived thirty or forty years ago. She is trying to make them conform to the customs and conventions and mode of dress of her day, and the youngsters are bound to do what the young people of today are doing and wear the clothes that are the fashion now, and so there are the never-ending family ructions that make so many homes a perpetual battleground.

And it is because mother is determined to boss her daughter-in-law and son-in-law as she does her own children that makes mother's presence in the house like a charge of TNT under the doorstep.

One of the wisest women I know says that her tongue is two inches shorter than it used to be, because she has chewed off that much of it keeping it from asking her children where they were going and when they were coming back and telling them not to stay out too long. And that woman's children adore her and go to her continually for advice because she never tries to make them do her way. Would that more women would imitate her example. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I was married to the best wife in the world and we were very happy, but somehow I got into an affair with another woman. God knows how or why, for I didn't care for this woman. My wife left me, but returned to me after I had promised to play square. She never mentioned the affair to me and we were happy for about two years when I got into another scrape. My wife again left me, but finally I persuaded her to return to me again. She warned me that if ever there was another affair of that kind there would be no more making up. I don't know why I did it, but I got into another mess and again my wife left, this time getting a divorce.

Now I realize how much I love her and that life means nothing without her. We are both very young and I have learned my bitter lesson. She says she will never love me or want to live with me again. Don't you think that we could be happy again together? I promised to do anything and to give up everything for her if she will only return, and I mean everything I have promised. K. S. D.

Answer—I do not think a man who is as weak as you are is capable of keeping a promise, or of being faithful to any one woman. Evidently you are a born philanderer and you will never be able to resist the flutter of a petticoat. You will always get up and follow.

I think your wife would be foolish to come back to you unless she loves you so much that she can accept infidelity, realizing that they are only surface attractions, that they really mean little and will soon be over and that whatever of real honest love you are capable of belongs to her.

I knew a case once in which a woman was capable of this deep understanding of her husband. He was a gay Lothario who could resist no pretty woman and he had a hundred love affairs, many of which came to his wife's notice, but she went serenely and apparently untroubled on her way.

"Oh, John can't help being flirtatious," she would say, "but he always comes home to mother. And he treats me as if I were a lady love, too."

But few women can achieve this philosophy, and if a wife's heart is torn with jealousy of her husband's affairs she is wise if she separates herself from him entirely after she has forgiven him twice. There is too much. It shows he can't be trusted. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young married woman. My health is poor and I am quite disagreeable at times and I guess I don't make life any too pleasant for my husband and he is so sweet and good to me, never says a harsh word. How can I stop being so hateful? MRS. T. C. T.

Answer—Just snap out of it. Shut your teeth on the hateful thing you are about to say. Bite off your tongue rather than make the disagreeable speech that would hurt your husband's feelings. It is just a matter of self-control and you can do it if you wish. DOROTHY DIX.

Horoscope

FRIDAY, JANUARY 12, 1933.

Malefic planetary aspects appear to rule today, and thus to carry out the superstition regarding Friday the thirteenth. Astrologers read the dominating aspects as follows:

The morning is fortunate for those who hold high positions or secure incomes. Men and women occupying positions in the sun may feel especially favored while this configuration prevails.

It should be a lucky day for those who seek promotions or appointments of any sort. Evil omens are to be ignored by men who hope to obtain political preferment.

Employment of large numbers of men in ambitious public enterprises is prognosticated for the first half of this year. Astrologers forecast much activity, especially in the West.

Traders may find discouraging conditions under this rule of the stars which may impede business in many places. It is a day for careful policies.

There is a sign unfavorable to ventures. It is well to postpone initiative or expansion that entails large investments.

Reputation is in a place exposed to importation and to assure foresight that is profitable. This is a day in plan rather than to put plans into operation.

This is not a lucky planetary government for women, and again the stars emphasize the fact that competition in the business world will be unfavorable to them. The planet supposed to rule success for dealers in many sorts of beverages.

Women workers in many vocations now are subject to sex antagonisms that cause discrimination in favor of men, astrologers declare.

The stars counsel for women the development of their special talents and the training to super-excellence of their average ability.

The race is to the swift and highly-trained in shop and factory, it is pointed out, and only the women who have the ability and the extraordinary ability that they can out-distance men may expect real or lasting success.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the luxury of a year of good luck. Profit is predicted in speculative enterprises.

Children born on this day probably will be logical in their mental processes and practical in their activities. Subjects of this sign usually make the most of their opportunities.

Samuel P. Chase, famous jurist was born on this day 1808. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Samuel Woodworth, 1785, author of "The Old Oaken Bucket," and Michel Chevalier, 1806, French economist.
